The specific reasons the HER2 Support Group was formed are:

- To educate breast cancer patients who over-express the HER2 gene about the latest tests and treatments available which will equip them with the knowledge and tools necessary to facilitate confident and informed decisions regarding their treatment options.
- A website, www.her2support.org, with links to various research and other health-related sites to inform breast cancer patients about their treatments.
- To provide a message board to share experiences, knowledge, and personal history of all our supporters.
- To educate breast cancer patients and their families about partnering with their health care team in order to receive the most comprehensive care and support possible.
